SYNOPSIS

The seminar will cover details on technical information on Polyurea technology and how it can be applied in the construction industry.

Learning Objectives:

- To impart to architects new information on Polyurea, the latest polymer technology, and be able to provide pertinent technical details that will make them understand the technology in relation to the construction industry
- To showcase how Delta Polyurea is applied to projects

How would architects benefit from attendance?

Architects will learn at the end of the presentation all pertinent technical information about Polyurea, and be able to apply and use it in their project designs and concepts.
