Jeffrey Ho

With over 28 years of management and professional experiences in architecture, urban planning and urban design, Jeffrey Ho is currently the Executive Vice-President of Surbana Urban Planning Group at Surbana International Consultants. The Group consists of a multi-disciplinary and cultural team with a portfolio of numerous first-mover and award winning projects across the world.

Jeffrey's urban planning and design philosophy is largely influenced by his architectural background, which branded his planning approach as a 'fusion of art and geometry'. His brand is notably recognizable in some of his recent masterplans in the ME and Africa. His other professional involvements include serving as an expert panel member in government agencies, an external examiner in NUS Masters Program in urban design, an architect mentor to NUS architecture students, and a city planning advisor to the City of Jinjiang in Fujian Province.

In 2009, Jeffrey received two PUSH Awards by the Design Singapore Council for his relentless effort to 'push' design excellence to achieve new heights and frontiers beyond Singapore's boundaries.

She is also interested in home accessories which she has been awarded the PUSH Award 2008/2009 for "Rubber Rolling Pots". Currently she has been working as a product designer in Philips design Singapore since 2008.

Chan Ee Mun is a senior associate of WOHA, a regional design practice based in Singapore. #### JUDGES' CITATION FOR SKYRISE GREENERY AWARDS 2008 - NEWTON SUITES

This scheme made good use of landscape in a fairly tight site (e.g. green walls on the exterior of condo, residential block, exterior of car park and pool side). The provision of greenery in communal space (i.e. skyrise gardens) contributes to the lush environment. The green walls surrounding the car park structure soften an otherwise harsh façade to its neighbours while the vertical greenery that extends 30 floors up the building adds a dramatic touch to the building. Maintenance of the greenery is taken into consideration, where the green wall can be accessed via the escape staircase landing on every floor. It is a commendable effort for Newton Suites to achieve a green area which is 130% of its site area.
