ArchiFest '11 Forum
Registration Form

archifest '11

This year's Forum will be held over a day, focusing on the theme "Common Spaces" presented by a careful selection of 7 local and international speakers, with an estimate attendance of 500 professionals and students from the architectural fraternity and its related industries.

COMMON SPACES

This year ArchiFest looks at the notion of Common Spaces. We are curious of how the nature of shared spaces and experiences are shaped by conditions of our current global environment. This subject is examined in three key aspects of common spaces – our physical surrounding, media and virtual space and our psychological one. The dissolution of shared domains in public realms, threatened by privatisation and commercialisation of these areas has led to questions of what is truly public in today's context. On the other hand, the emergence of the new media spaces of blogs, chat rooms, with instruments like Facebook, Twitter, Youtube etc, have empowered us with new means of communication and connectivity, and added a fresh dimension to the way we interact. With the redefinition of conventional meaning of territories, boundaries and communities, how will these spatial parallels influence our perception and of shared experience and collective memories of our surrounding? How will these new ideas of common spaces and networks affect the way architecture and cities are designed? How can we harness its potential to create a sustainable urban environment and enrich our idea of Place?

Competitions

Photography Competition

Submission 15 Aug to 7 Oct

A picture is worth a thousand words. ArchiFest '11 explores Common Spaces, what to most of us, are public places where we behave and present ourselves according to social norms. Nothing out of the ordinary is expected to happen, making them dull and simply a background of our everyday life.

This year's photography competition for ArchiFest sets you on a search for 'Un-Common Spaces'. Stop and take a second look around you, and you might just see a bunch of youngsters 'planking', a cobbler along the walkway or line dancers practising at a shopping plaza — unexpected uses of ordinary places.

Through your photos, bring out the unseen and unpredictable in this city, showing how un-common our common spaces really are. Kindly visit www.archifest.sg to upload your photos!

ArchiTours

9 & 16 September

ArchiTours this year is a parley with the idea of what Common Spaces is to us. We will discern the evolution of common spaces, from a mere arrangement of spaces within homes, to having common spaces within a larger societal context. The Residential and Award Winning ArchiTours will run on Saturdays in October. Do lookout for these others tours on our website (www.archifest.sg) in late September.

Be treated to a series of prequels to the October tours, join us to explore the behind-the-scenes environment of the brain behind each building design; hear from the very designers of iconic buildings of Singapore. These tours will take place on 9th September and 16th September. See you at the Architect Open Offices tours!

Prequels – Architect Open Offices

Recognising that Youths are the builders of tomorrow's city, this programme is specially catered for students and teaching staffs of Secondary Schools, Junior Colleges & Tertiary institutions who are interested to find out more about the life and career of an Architect by visiting Architects' offices.

One of the objectives of the ArchiTours is for participants to gain a deeper understanding about the work of an Architect through a more personal interaction with the Architects themselves

FORUM SPEAKERS

Prof Sir Peter Cook, Keynote Speaker

CRAB Studio (United Kingdom)

CRAB has just commenced construction of the Bond University School of Architecture in Queensland, Australia (awarded through a competition).

In addition to such work, the office is developing its project for the Verbania Municipal Theatre in Piedmont, Italy which was also won in a competition.

Cook and Robotham have a core team with a long track record of building construction. CRAB also attract an especially talented series of young architects as well as interns. Most of these have been their own students or selected as a result of their extensive links as examiners and critics at the key schools in London, New York, Los Angeles, Vienna and Paris.

Peter Cook continued his close association with Klaus Bollinger (of Bollinger and Graumann) since constructing the canteen for the Frankfurt art academy 'Staedelschule' in the 1990s. The Kunsthaus Graz has been a major co-operation with Cook, Bollinger and Fournier acting very much as a single conceptual unit. Such close involvement has been continued through in the present project, with constant to-and-fro development of the structures and forms.

Mr Umberto Napolitano,

LAN (Local Architecture Network) (France)

Umberto Napolitano began his architectural studies in Italy and completed them in France at the Villetta School of Architecture where he graduated in 2001 with a special mention from the jury. He rapidly developed a critical approach to the separation between theory and practice.

In parallel with his architectural education, he also worked with a number of architects. His involvement in Franco-American workshops has given his work an international flavour and allowed him to absorb other cultures and skills.

Mr Asif Khan,

Asif Khan Ltd (United Kingdom)

Asif was born and raised in London, England and studied Architecture at the Architectural Association and Bartlett School, University College London. He is excited by craftsmanship, high technology, low technology, innovation and wit in design.

Asif Khan Ltd. is a design office based in London working across architecture, products, interiors and furniture, particularly projects which combine these in new and unexpected ways.

Asif Khan Ltd. has a diverse range of clients, from manufacturers to private individuals each different but all valued as collaborators. Recent / Current clients include Magis, Idee, Danese, Sawaya & Moroni, the Design Museum and the Clinton-Hunter Foundation. Current projects include a restaurant in London's Borough Market and furniture for schools in Malawi.

Mr Siew Man Kok,

MKPL Architects Pte Ltd (Singapore)

B.Arch (Hons) NUS, MSIA, RIBA

Mr Siew Man Kok set up MKPL Architects with Ms Cheng Pai Ling in 1995. As a result, MKPL Architects have now works in Bangkok, Canada, Dubai, Hong Kong, India, Malaysia and lately, South Korea. Their notable works are the Glentrees Condominium, SkyPark Apartments, a shophouse at Cuff Road as well as the Visitor's Centre at the HortPark. Currently, they are completing a 13 storey International School in Hong Kong on an extremely challenging site. The school is likely to be referenced as a precedent on the feasibility of highrise learning environment in Singapore.

Mr Siew also found time to teach in the National University of Singapore from 1994 to 2010 as well as an examiner from 2002 to 2004. He is also contributing his time as a member of the Architectural Design Panel of HDB, a member of the Design Advisory Committee of URA and a member of the Preservation of Monument Board.

In addition to his experience with BIG, Kai-Uwe Bergmann was previously a Project Architect with C.F. Møller Architects in Copenhagen where he was a member of three award winning competitions. Furthermore, he filled the same role at the Austrian office of Baumschlager & Eberle where he was involved on their work for the UN AIDS Research Administration Building in Geneva and a residence in Diepoldsau, Switzerland.
