

Frequently asked questions on Digital Version of SIA Building Contracts

1. What is the digital version of SIA Building Contracts?
In our effort to reduce environmental impact and provide greater convenience in contract documentation and binding, SIA have successfully completed converting the suite of SIA forms of contracts (Domestic version) to digital version. We are working on the international version and target to launch the International version over the next few weeks.
2. How does the digital version of SIA Building Contracts benefit me?
 - (a) It provides greater convenience in contract documentation and binding
 - (b) It enables you to access the digital version anywhere, anytime on your electronic devices
3. How do I purchase the digital version?
You need to have an SIA online account to access SIA Online Services. Non-members may sign up for a free online account at smo.sia.org.sg.
4. How does the digital version work? What information do I need to provide?
The digital version will have a watermark (project name and unique numbers) at the top of every page of the contract. The information required will depend on the type of contract purchased i.e.
Main Contract (project name, employer and contractor)
Design & Build (project name, employer, and design contractor)
Sub-Contract (project name, contractor, and sub-contractor)
5. Is there a maximum character for project name?
